PARENT INVOLVEMENT

In order to engage parents in their children's learning and educational process, Community Action Project's Head Start program offers a variety of parent involvement activities. These activities include: access to individualized family support services; parent group meetings on such topics as reading to your child, positive parenting, and stress management; monthly parent connection socialization groups; male involvement sporting activities; take-home learning game educational activities, resource fairs and a parent activity carnival; scrapbooking and sewing classes; nutrition and cooking workshops; and monthly Policy Council meetings. In addition, CAP also offers some specialized opportunities to parents of children enrolled in Head Start, including the CareerAdvance job training program which helps parents earn certifications to become employed in the health care field; a longitudinal alumni research project to gain more information about participants upon departure from the program; Healthy Women Healthy Futures which helps mothers learn about proper health and diet between pregnancies; and Tuesday Tales, a family literacy program. All of these parent involvement activities help connect Head Start parents with their children’s early education.

PREPARING CHILDREN FOR SCHOOL

School readiness is an essential component of Community Action Project’s Head Start program. In order to accomplish this goal, the program incorporates a range of techniques to help ensure that children leave Head Start prepared to enter kindergarten. Efforts to improve developmental readiness of enrolled children focus on the following areas:

- Cognitive (language and communication)
- Language Development
- Literacy
- Mathematics
- Science
- Creative arts
- Social/emotional
- Physical/health

Teachers engage children in each of these areas by introducing a variety of learning opportunities into each classroom through daily interactions guided by the Creative Curriculum ®. As a result, Community Action Project’s Head Start program gives students the tools they need to be better prepared for kindergarten and future academic success.
